Difference Between Auditing and Investigation

1. While Auditing is an examination of documents, books, records, and processes; Investigation is a more extensive examination of the Audit results to establish a more certain fact.
2. Internal or external auditors or accountants from an accounting firm conducts Auditing. At the same time, experts or investigators were hired for investigation as it requires more extensive methodologies.
3. Auditing is mandatory, especially in an organization that consists of a board of trustees. At the same time, an investigation is only conducted indiscretion if unusual activities involving financial resources are not transparent.
4. Unlike Auditing that has a focus and limited scope, investigative auditing may have a broader range and department to cover.
5. Auditing may be scheduled while an investigation can be surprisingly done at any time.
