

AskAnyDifference.com

We help you with differences and comparisons of terms, products, and services.

Difference Between Confession and Admission

1. Confession is a voluntary statement by the accused directly acknowledging their guilt.
2. Admission is a voluntary statement of a fact in issue or a relevant fact.
3. Confession can only be made by the accused.
4. Admission can be made by any party to the proceedings of a case or their agent, and in certain circumstances, by third parties as well.
5. Confessions can only be made in criminal proceedings.
6. Admissions can be made in both civil and criminal proceedings.

Source and more details: <https://askanydifference.com/difference-between-confession-and-admission/>