

AskAnyDifference.com

We help you with differences and comparisons of terms, products, and services.

Difference Between Scallions and Green Onions

1. The main difference between Scallions and Green Onions is, scallions are a type of a vegetable which does not produce bulb while green onions are a variety which produces a bulb.
2. There are botanical differences between the two, scallion because of non-bearing bulb property makes it Allium Fistulosum while Green onion is called Allium Cepa.
3. The taste between the two is similar however Scallions has a mild aroma than the green onions.
4. The colour of the stem remains the same for both, however, scallions have a white base which is seen as roots while green onions have a whitish or purple base which is seen as 'just sprouted bulb'.
5. Both Scallions have similar fibre properties which are healthy, however, the sulphur content of Scallions is less than Green Onion which is a strong agent in fighting cancer.

Source and more details: <https://askanydifference.com/difference-between-scallions-and-green-onions/>